

Hancock United Way exceeds 1988 goal

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hancock County United Way exceeded its 1988 campaign goal by $6,351 in a report made Wednesday to officers and directors by Conrad Mauffray, executive director.

David Treutel Jr., campaign chairman, was elated over the exceeding of the goal of $70,000, which in itself is a 17 percent increase over the 1987 campaign of $65,000.

"The addition of new payroll deduction companies and businesses, in addition to others which have been regular contributors over the years, has really helped in the 1988 campaign," Chuck Benvenuti stated.

Treutel, who served as a campaign chairman in 1987, stated, "The team concept of having a campaign chairman and several co-chairmen has really helped Hancock County's United Way reach more contributors at a time when it is really needed."

Among the latest industries to join the United Way payroll deduction participation were Hancock County's officials, Bay Technical Associates, General Electric Plastics (Borg-Warner) and Sunland Services, contractors to G.E. at Port Bienville.

Benvenuti added there is another Bay St. Louis industry conducting a campaign, which is scheduled to be completed by Dec. 31 as our campaign ends.

Mauffray said the $76,351 reached includes corporate gifts, monies and pledges from individuals, businesses and industry. The figure also includes the Combined Agencies Campaign (CAC) of Stennis Space Center and Combined Federal Campaigns (CFC) covering the coastal government employees.

A large percentage of the $76,351 comes from payroll deductions.

Benvenuti said, "With the large number of our residents employed outside of our county in such places as the Greater New Orleans area, we are pleased there is an increasing number who designate Hancock County United Way as their payroll deduction recipient."

Serving as campaign co-chairmen with Treutel were Jo Ann Lagasse, Sherrell Johnson, Pat Harvill, Lonnie Clayborn, Ken Walker, Randy Castello and Steve Planchard.

In 1988, the United Way funded 18 agencies with funds raised during the 1987 campaign.

At a recent United Way meeting, Hancock County's St. Vincent de Paul Society was added as a 19th agency for 1989. The funding for the new agency is to be used for medicine.

Treutel was elected at the board's last meeting to serve as a director with the resignation of Rick Eagan, who resigned because of a job change.

Taxes paid early for '89

BY DENA BISNETTE

By Wednesday morning, about $900,000 in property taxes had already been collected from residents of Hancock County and Bay St. Louis.

According to Hancock County Tax Collector and Assessor Edward Murtagh, every one of the people whose money makes up that $900,000 has chosen to pay early.

Out of the $900,000, $654,952.89 will go to the county, while $254,471.91 had been collected for Bay St. Louis as of Wednesday morning, he said.

Murtagh, with permission of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, started collections Dec. 1. He was able to do so because, through increasing modernization of the tax office, his department now prints its own tax receipts.

All the preparations for the early start were completed before Thanksgiving, and the receipts just had to be mailed, Murtagh explained.

The move is a fortunate one for the county, as well as the City of Bay St. Louis, for which Murtagh's office serves as collector through a special cooperative agreement between the supervisors and the city council.

Counties are on a different fiscal year, Oct. 1 to Sept. 30, than tax offices, which operate on a calendar year. Because the revenue received is not turned over to the county until the 20th of the month following receipt and collections go down later in the year, counties can be left with only a small amount of tax revenue on which to operate in January.

"This will give the board some operating money for January," Murtagh said. "What's important to me about this is that had I waited until January, I would not have made the settlement until Feb. 20."

He has found that people want to pay early.

"We get our tray of mail each day and that's 500 to 1,000 letters a day," the tax collector said, adding that his staff works late some nights to process all of the payments being made.

The envelopes are marked for easier separating of the Bay St. Louis taxes and the county taxes, then all payments are computerized as soon as possible and put in the bank to draw interest until the county uses the funds.

School boards to meet on consolidation again

Editor's note: The following story was originally printed in the Thursday, Dec. 15 edition of The Sea Coast Echo. With the exception of some of the opening paragraphs that have since become outdated, the article is being reprinted here because some of the paragraphs were misplaced during layout when the story was jumped from page one to an inside page. The Echo regrets any misleading impressions the scrambled version of the information may have left on readers. The public forum mentioned in the final paragraph is still set for 7 p.m. Jan. 5 at the Bay Junior High Auditorium, despite the fact that a joint meeting of the two boards has not been conducted due to scheduling problems.

BY DENA BISNETTE

Although the Bay-Waveland board could take no action on it Monday night because board members had not yet had a chance to read the document, a resolution asking for consolidation of the high school has been proposed by the Hancock Board.

The resolution gives no details on how the joint effort would work but provides several probable results of such a move, including "financial savings for both districts and an expanded curriculum for the students of both districts."

According to the resolution, expansion would be possible to the extent that the remedial education currently required by the State Department of Education could become more accessible to the students who need it, and the regular curriculum could be split into three divisions, vocational-occupational, technical, regular education and college preparatory.

Such a move would foster enrichment classes and place both districts in a better position to take advantage of the proximity of Pearl River Community College facilities for purposes other than vocational-technical, the resolution states.

The resolution proposes that all seventh and eighth grade students from two of the Hancock elementary schools, G... view and Charles B. Murphy, and from Bay Junior High School in the Bay-Waveland system, attend the current Bay Senior High School, which would create an enrollment of about 523 students in 1990 using current enrollment figures.

The joint high school would include grades nine through 12 and would house about 1,334 students in 1990 in the high school complex currently planned for construction at Stennis Airpark.

Attached to the resolution were the enrollment figures used to reach the totals cited in the resolution, a list of comprehensive high school courses that could be made available through the expansion, and a letter to Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph from Pearl River Community College Dean of Academic Affairs Willis H. Lott.

Lott's letter expressed a willingness to provide more classes of varying types for the students living in Hancock County and to expand to sites in addition to Stennis Airpark and John C. Stennis Space Center.

In a related part of its business Monday, the Bay-Waveland board agreed to provide facilities at Bay Senior High for night classes taught through the college. The classes will begin at the opening of the 1988-89 school term.

Although Bay-Waveland Superintendent of Education Roger Oge said he feels the board should explore the many forms of consolidation available, he agreed that a meeting with the Hancock board should be scheduled as soon as possible to discuss the possibility of a consolidated high school.

Bay-Waveland Board President Betty Diboll said she is willing to discuss the pros and cons of consolidating high schools, but she is not willing to send students to the airport, while Board Member Danny Carter said he was interested in finding out if, when the Bay-Waveland District builds a planned classroom addition at Bay High and uses up its bond issue money, "they (the Hancock district) are still interested in working with us."

The meeting needs to be expedited, Diboll said, because the Bay-Waveland district has another project, the remaining improvements on the high school and the board needs to know about consolidation in order to decide whether to go on with the bidding procedure for that work; however, Board Member Chuck Benvenuti said he feels the improvements are still needed even if the two boards decide to consolidate.

Benvenuti also pointed out that if the construction money is not used, it may be repaid rather than turned over to the county.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex said it is possible that the bond issue money may not be used for anything other than the purpose for which the bond issue was approved.

Benvenuti was in favor of a public forum designed to inform the public about some of the alternatives of consolidation, but mostly to gather their input.

Carter said he would favor, since the board members' addresses had already been published in a recent advertisement supporting Oge, that people write to the board members to explain how they feel about consolidation.

The board members unanimously approved publication of the addresses.

Depending on what happens at the meeting with the Hancock board, the public forum has been set for 7 p.m. Jan. 5. Due to the number of people expected to attend, the meeting will be conducted in the junior high auditorium.

By Ellis C. Cuevas

This is the time of year when so many things happen and this week there were too many things going on around the area to allow time for writing my column. By the way, you still have time to get your last minute shopping done at home.

On Your Birthday

Christ, what can I give to you on such a special day? Maybe a purified soul done in an honest way? I think that would be nice to give to you; Yeah! That's exactly what I'll do. I'll pray real hard to follow your lead To be as much like you as I can; I think I can manage being a saint, And try to become the best Christian I can.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Santa: I want....

Dec. 18, 1988
Dear Santa,

Please this year listen to me. I want something so badly that I am begging you to bring it to me. I want an animal shelter. Not just any animal shelter, but one that is under the direct control of the Hancock County Humane Society, Inc. If you will give this one gift to me, you will also answer the Christmas wishes of so many thousands of animals, too. Animals who beg not with words, but with hungry stomachs, wet and mangy skin, broken bodies and frightened hearts.

I have been a good girl. I have followed my conscience, worked hard and have said my prayers every night, and many times during the day.

Please bring me this shelter as early as you can because as you read this letter, time is running out for so many of these animals.

I thank you for the many friends that I have made in this past year. Especially the hard workers like Janice Lynn, Bob and Ruth Patterson, JoAnn Kahn, Juliette Mathes, Edna Isom, Mark Mason, Valerie Fisher, Corinn Mixon, Jim Malini, Madison McKinney, Dorethea Martin, John and Mary Sinders, John and Connie Chevis, Harry and Julie Brown, Mike Benvenuti, Bill Devrow, Lollie Backlund and Bill Lynn and his pick-up truck and Allyson and her machines.

Please bring along with the new shelter about 20 more people just like the ones I named above.

Thank you Santa for this year's efforts by Mayor Vic Frankiewicz, Supervisors Ron Cuevas, Mike Ladner, Robert Peterson, Omer Haas and William Whitfield, our sponsor Mrs. Leo (Susy) Seal and our wonderful humane Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and our new cruelty investigator Officer Harold Hejne and his wife Audrey.

I love you, Santa. Could you please not bring this shelter to my house. Put it somewhere close by. One of my dogs might bite you and I also have an attack cat.

Love,
Thyla Rogers,
Hancock County Humane Society President

Haze on the horizon worries residents

Dear Editor:

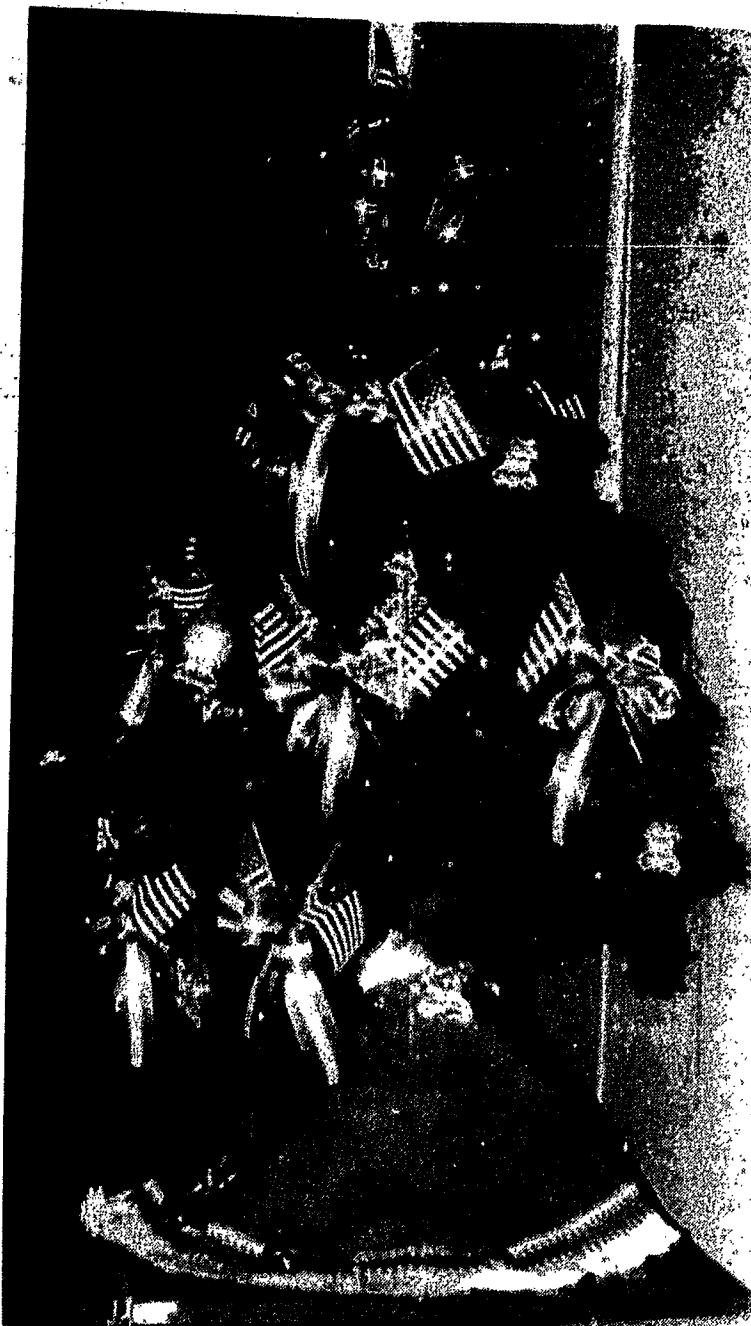

What is the haze on the horizon of Bay-Waveland? It is the terrible sulphur-colored air of a civilization bent on destroying its own environment. Of all of the current affairs in our society, one of the top priorities must be the preservation of our natural resources. Although the problems seem insurmountable, they are really not. In most cases the laws already exist which make the way for a clean environment.

The law, for example, prohibiting polluted emissions from the exhausts of automobiles has long been on the books. Yet it is impossible to drive down Hwy. 90 from Waveland to Bay St. Louis without being gagged by a white or black smoke screen, being emitted from the tailpipe of a vehicle.

Of course, the conscience of the driver should come into play to repair the problem; but in the absence of that, the community conscience must come into play, and the laws already enacted for this purpose must be enforced. Sometimes the conscience of offenders needs a prod by fine or revocation of inspection permit until the problem is corrected.

This is a simple solution to a very big problem. The revenue from the fines should go to support the important police work of protecting the air that we all breathe. What is that haze on the horizon of the Bay St. Louis and Waveland area? With a little prevention we can make it a thing of the past.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

U.S. Sen. Thad Cochran doesn't have to stand for re-election until 1990, but he is already gearing up as though he is going to face a strong Democratic challenger two years from now.

Cochran has had a campaign office open here since last spring, poised and ready to go into action when he announces for re-election, probably in late 1989.

This seems at the moment an exercise in overkill. The Democrats are still trying to regroup after the resounding setback they suffered from George Bush and Trent Lott on Nov. 8, and there's been no great rush of Democratic hopefuls for the chance to take on the popular Cochran.

The only possible Democratic challenger with name recognition to come out of the political rumor mill is Atty. Gen. Mike Moore, the 36-year-old phenom who pulled off something of an upset in winning his job in the 1987 campaign.

A year ago when he was about to take office, Moore admitted to this writer, and a few other persons, that the one job he would be interested in other than the state's attorney general would be U.S. Senator.

However, because of his relative young age, Moore did not indicate that he had any sort of a time-table as to when he might make a run at a Senate seat. Even if he waited 10 years he would still be in his mid-forties.

The timing of a Senate race in 1990 may prove appealing to Moore. He could run against Cochran and not have to give up his job as attorney general. If he lost, he could still seek re-election to his state post in 1991.

(While there is no constitutional requirement now that a state elected officer must resign if he seeks a federal office, a constitutional amendment to do just that has been introduced for consideration in the 1989 legislative session.)

The Cochran forces on the surface don't acknowledge that Moore may be lurking on the horizon as the Democratic challenger.

Some observers, however, speculated last week that a litmus test of Cochran's recognition of Moore could come shortly if U.S. Attorney George Phillips stops making joint appearances with Moore at news conferences to announce white collar crime arrests in which both the feds and state investigators participate.

Phillips' reappointment comes up next year and whether or not he will stay in the job will depend upon Cochran recommending him to the president for another four years.

Initially, Phillips got the job during the Jimmy Carter administration by nomination of Sen. John Stennis. But under the Reagan administration, Cochran has had the patronage since 1981 and twice has nominated Phillips for reappointment.

The Phillips reappointment could trigger the first confrontation between Cochran and his new Senate colleague, Republican Trent Lott, over patronage.

Phillips is U.S. Attorney for the southern district of the federal court and because Lott is a South Mississippian some believe he will seek to handle any federal patronage in his home area. In years past, when both John Stennis and James O. Eastland were in the Senate, they divided judicial patronage on a territorial basis during Democratic administrations.

A source close to Cochran said that Cochran and Lott have gotten together several times in the last couple of weeks, apparently to discuss patronage among other things. This source, said however, "I do not get the impression that they have divided up the state."

The implication of his remarks is that Cochran as senior senator will continue to dispense judicial patronage. Cochran and Lott had a collision three or four years ago over the appointment to fill a vacancy on the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Cochran had recommended Jackson attorney Grady Jolly to President Reagan. Lott, contending that Appeals court appointments were outside of traditional Senatorial patronage, recommended his friend, Harry Allen, a Gulfport attorney.

After a year's delay, Reagan upheld the primacy of Senatorial patronage over judicial appointments and gave the judgeship to Jolly.

The President's Column

1974 Budget Act and the Deficit

I want to ask you a question: Will you help me reduce the Federal budget deficit and then balance the budget once and for all? No, I am not asking you to pay more taxes; I think you already pay plenty and those trying to tax away more of your hard-earned money should be ashamed of themselves. Instead, what I need is for you to help me fix a budget system that has broken down.

First, let me describe the problem and then I will explain what we can do about it. The record is not good. In all but eight of the last 56 years, the Federal Government has run a deficit. And every time of deficit spending over these many years has been mandated by Congress. You see, under the Constitution, only Congress can spend money; the President can not appropriate a penny.

Up until 1974, the President did have one effective way to control spending: he could refuse to spend money appropriated by Congress, and this ability to impound funds was routinely used by such Presidents as Thomas Jefferson and Franklin Roosevelt. In fact, three of my predecessors, Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon, used this power each year to reduce Federal spending by between 5 percent and 8 percent. During my Presidency, that would have reduced the deficit by billions each year.

But, all that changed in 1974. In the 1974 Budget and Impoundment Control Act, Congress stripped the President of his ability to refuse to spend funds. Let me try to describe the effect of this change. Suppose the rules of hockey were changed and the goalie was removed from the game: Would you be surprised if hockey scores quadrupled? Well, since Congress changed the budget law, Federal spending has in fact quadrupled, and it has come right out of your pocket.

And under the new rules, the deficit has taken off. For a quarter century, the average annual Federal deficit was just 0.7 percent of the gross national product. Then in the mid-1970's Congress changed the rules, and since then the deficit has been running five times higher than before.

The verdict is in: The current system does not work. Can you imagine if a head of a household or a business were forced to spend every dime that was budgeted, even if savings were available? That is the situation the President is in now. All he can do is ask Congress to take back funds it appropriated.

Since 1982, I have requested Congress to take back unneeded funds more than 460 times, and 83 percent of the time they refused. Most of the time they did not even bring it up for a vote; they simply said, "No, spend it all."

During my two terms, Congress appropriated over $100 billion more on domestic spending than I requested. But this is typical. Between 1976 and 1987—a period spanning three Presidencies in which we ran a deficit each year—Congress spent an average of $30 billion per year more than the President requested. The budget system simply has no control and no internal discipline.

And that is the problem. Now here is what must be done. To solve the deficit problem, it is essential that we restore the Constitutional balance and repair the system. We need to give the President greater authority to limit spending, that means the line-item veto—which 43 Governors have—and also greater authority for a President to return unneeded funds to Congress. Congress must reform its faulty budget process; and we need a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution, so the Federal Government does not spend more than it takes in.

After I leave office next month, I will campaign for these reforms. So, I am asking you to join me in this vital campaign for the future by making your voice heard. If we achieve these reforms, the deficit will be ancient history in no time.

What will not solve the problem is raising taxes. In fact, over the last 40 years the record is this: On average every $100 of new taxes has led to $158 of new spending. And since 1981, yearly tax revenues have gone up sharply—by some $375 billion—but that has not balanced the budget, because spending has gone up $450 billion, and less than a third of that went for defense.

Yes, we have heard a lot about cuts, but by their terms even when spending goes up they call it a cut. For example, Medicare spending, which we have been charged with cutting, in fact has doubled.

The only way to reduce the deficit is by limiting the increase in spending. And that is what my last budget will do. Without touching Social Security or raising taxes, our Fiscal Year 1990 budget will reduce the deficit by some $35 billion, more than meeting the Gramm-Rudman target.

You see, economic growth will increase revenues by $80 billion without new taxes. Just by holding spending increases to less than $80 billion, we will reduce the deficit and put ourselves on track for a balanced budget by 1993. And with your help that will be done.

Patrol asking for seat belt use

Even Santa is being asked by Mississippi Highway Patrol officials to strap himself in when he makes his rounds this year. Jolly Ole Saint Nicholas may have special connections that keep him safe but the patrol says the extra precaution of wearing a seat belt while riding in his sleigh can't hurt.

A powerful message resulting from the 14 highway deaths that occurred over the last Christmas and New Year's holidays is that none of the seven drivers or five passengers killed were wearing seat belts. Two of the 14 deaths involved pedestrians.

"Seat belts are your best protection on the road against a drunk driver. It makes sense to me that if you care about yourself, your family and friends, everyone in the car will be wearing a seat belt," said Lt. Col. Billie T. Hughes, assistant Highway Patrol chief.

"National Highway Traffic Safety Administration studies reveal that seat belts are 50 to 65 percent effective in preventing fatalities and injuries when a motor vehicle crash occurs. I believe that," Hughes added.

Other efforts by the Highway patrol to reduce fatalities and injuries on Mississippi's highways during the holidays include: Operation Saturation details, the use of surveillance aircraft to locate speeding and reckless drivers or stranded motorists, trooper cars equipped with non-radar VAS-CAR units, and increased officer manpower through federally funded "call back" details.

"Enforcement is up, traffic fatalities are down. We want to keep it that way," said Col. David R. Huggins, Highway patrol chief.

"The fact is simple. Higher speed result in more serious crashes. In fact, the chance of death or serious injury occurring doubles with every 10 miles per hour you drive over 50 miles per hour," he said.

"A night out on the town celebrating the holiday season can be costly for the driver who is arrested for DUI; costly in terms of fines or perhaps in terms of lives," Huggins said.

He said the Highway Patrol's message for the holidays is obey the posted speed limit, use your seat belt and don't drink and drive.

The 78-hour Christmas observance begins at 6 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 23 and ends at midnight on Monday, Dec. 26, 1988.

TRAVEL DESTINATIONS

Ski Train Package

This season the Hyatt Regency Denver downtown is offering a one-of-a-kind package — it includes first class upgrades on round trip seating on a Ski Train! And that train — the only one of its kind in the U.S. — makes a short two-hour trip to a premier resort, Winter Park, Colorado, and back the same day, stopping literally at the base of the major ski lifts.

The two-night package includes: Friday and Saturday night stays; two first-class seats on the train to Winter Park and return; Winter Park lift tickets for two, and; Sunday morning breakfast. This costs $199 per couple (plus tax on room). Children staying in the same room with their parents are only an additional $48.

The one-night package includes: Friday or Saturday night stay; two first-class seats on train to Winter Park and return, and; Winter Park lift tickets for two. This one-night package is only $139 (plus tax on room). Children sharing the room with parents are an additional $40 each.

The train departs every Saturday and Sunday, November 26, 1988 through April 9, 1989, from Union Station, less than one mile from the Hyatt downtown, at 7:30 a.m. and arrives at Winter Park at 9:30 a.m. The train returns to Denver at 4:15 p.m. arriving at Union Station at 6:15 p.m. A relaxing ride through the splendor of the Rocky Mountains, the Ski Train is a welcomed alternative to driving.

Although the Ski Train is a long-time Denver tradition, this year it operates with the newest, state of the art equipment. For reservations, contact the Hyatt Regency Denver at 303-295-1200 or Hyatt Worldwide. Reservations at 1-800-228-9000.

The spirit of Christmas — giving a gift that will be treasured a lifetime. Christmas is a time to express joy and love, and what better Yuletide expression of love and joy than the act of giving! There is truth in the old adage, "It is better to give than to receive." Herein lies the true spirit of Christmas.

And there is no gift more associated with love, sentiment, quality and lasting beauty than a gift of fine jewelry, according to Jewelers of America, the national association of retail jewelers from across the country.

Jewelry has been given as a gift throughout history. One of the first gifts associated with Christmas was a gift of gold brought to Christ by the Magi, which is how gift-giving at Christmas began.

At first, man's fascination with gold as an adornment lay in its intrinsic value. Ancient civilizations worshipped it for its association with Ra, god of the golden sun. Gold is the noblest metal worn by kings and royalty.

The allure of gold continues today. A gift of gold jewelry is the perfect way to commemorate that first gift, and it will be around for generations. After all, gold withstands the test of time, as shown by the findings from King Tut's tomb and many other archeological discoveries.

Since ancient times, colored stones have been thought to possess magical powers or the ability to endow the wearer with certain attributes. Gems are as unique as people and each has its own separate personality characteristics.

For a personalized and individual Christmas gift, choose jewelry set with a person's birthstone, or research the folklore surrounding a stone and select one which captures the wearer's characteristics.

For example, one who is enamored with the sea, or a world traveler, would be the ideal recipient of a cool blue aquamarine. Emerald's intense green would help one become an eloquent speaker.

Fascinating folklore follows every stone, and selecting the right one can be a fun adventure for the giver. Not only do gems come in every color, there are all price ranges for each color. In red, deeply hued garnets can appear as rich as rubies.

Diamonds' association with love and living can be traced far back into history, but it was in 1477 that the polished diamond officially became the betrothal ring, when Maximilian of Austria proposed to Mary of Burgundy.

Love and the Christmas spirit seem to create a romantic setting for marriage proposals, proven by the fact that the month of December accounts for 25 percent of all diamond engagement ring sales, as compared to June, which accounts for 10 percent. Diamonds set in all jewelry designs add a special sparkle to a Christmas gift.

Because of their mysterious origin from the sea, pearls were believed to be the most magical and powerful gems, particularly in the realm of love. The pearl is the oldest gem in the world, dating back to 3500 B.C.

From that time, the pearl's shimmering and mesmerizing inner glow was reputed to bring, bestow, enhance and sustain love. In fact, one of Sir Lancelot's ladies gave him a pearl emblem from her dress sleeve as a token of her love.

Pearls also symbolize truth. Such a virtuous gem reflects the spirit of Christmas expressed in all styles of pearl jewelry.

Jewelry's enduring nature throughout history guarantees that today's Christmas gifts will become future heirlooms. Gifts of fine jewelry will be around longer than faddish gifts which don't last beyond the holiday.

The spirit of Christmas past can be revitalized today in antique or "retro" style jewelry from past generations which, given new life with the help of your local jeweler, can be passed on to future generations. Fashions this year call for period jewelry in Victorian or Art Deco designs, from pins to "retro" style watches.

Jewelry as an adornment serves as a form of individual expression. When choosing gifts of fine jewelry, you can take into consideration the recipients' taste and sense of personal style and self-image.

Do they wear more conservative career clothes or are they more avant garde? Do they look better in certain colors, shapes or lengths of jewelry? Do they have favorite motifs they traditionally like to wear, or a hobby interest they like to express? It can be fun picking out jewelry so special and unique that the recipients will know that you took the extra time and thought just for them.

Your local jeweler can help you select those special Christmas gifts of fine jewelry by showing you a wide variety of styles based on your needs and budget.

And when these gifts need servicing, your jeweler will take time and care to clean them, size them and replace clasps in order to maintain their beauty and life.

For more information on fine jewelry, to put the spirit in your Christmas, Jewelers of America offers consumers a series of informational brochures on all facets of fine jewelry: Karat gold, diamonds, colored gemstones, cultured pearls, fine watches, appraisals, care & cleaning, sterling silver, etc. For your copies write to: Jewelers of America, 1271 Avenue of the Americas, Dept. CS, New York, NY 10020.

The Lights of Christmas

TIPS AND TRENDS FROM THE NATIONAL ORNAMENT AND ELECTRIC LIGHTS CHRISTMAS ASSOCIATION

Tree Trimming Tips

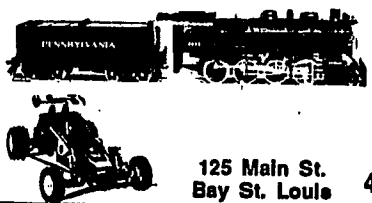

- When trimming with lights, begin at the top and from the inside of the tree. Wind the wire along the branch toward the tip. Wrap around at the tip to secure, then wind back and cross over to the next branch. Repeat, zig-zagging downward. Place bulbs only on the tips of the branch so the shape of the tree is outlined.

- Lights should have Underwriters Laboratories (UL) listings on their products. Also look for the "NOEL" logo on packaging. The general guideline is to use one set of 50 miniature lights per foot of tree; however, don't hesitate to use four or five times that many lights to create additional glamour and impact.

For the most dramatic effect each bulb should point upward—and slightly outward. The bulbs may be held in place by looping the wire around the branch.

Tips from the Electronic Industries Association
Electronic Accessories Light Up The Holiday

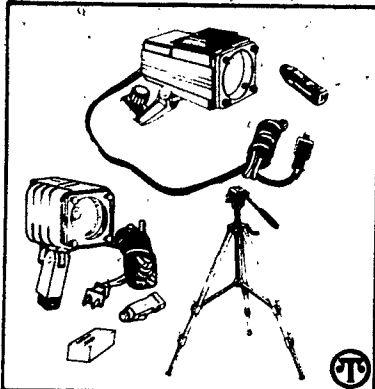

Q. The big gift to our family this year is going to be a camcorder. What accessories will help capture the most professional results of the holiday festivities?

A. Home movie moguls may want to buy video lights to insure good, clear pictures indoors. You'll capture all the holiday memories and have the lights for birthdays, weddings and other important events in the future.

Q. What makes a nice gift for the camcorder buff who seems to have everything?

A. Tripods are an inexpensive accessory that many video aficionados underestimate. After a while, even the most steady hand is bound to jiggle the camera. Not only can the user simply mount the camera on the tripod and shoot—he or she can also turn the camera on and get in the action! Hint: You may want to give a comfy neck strap too, so when someone isn't using the tripod, he or she doesn't accidentally drop the camera.

Q. What is a fun, yet practical gift for an elderly father who lives alone?

A. A cordless phone may be the answer. It insures that your father will be able to reach you in an emergency—whether the phone is in a carrying case hung over a bed post, or slung over a chair while dad relaxes in the garden. There are also phones with video screens so your father can see his grandchildren.

Holiday depression:Avoid unrealistic expectations

Unreasonably high expectations for happy holidays may cause depression when the season falls short of those expectations.

Holidays do not have to be a time for depression and loneliness. The holiday spirit is a choice more than a gift, said Norrine Barnes, family and child development specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"Some people seem to expect the holiday season in itself to make them happy," Barnes said.

"Part of not being depressed and/or lonely is seeing what is realistic."

The specialist said that comparing your holiday with other families or with childhood memories is one reason the season may be less than happy, especially when there are not other family members to celebrate with.

"If you are without family during the holidays, take the initiative to invite friends over or even to invite yourself to spend time with others," Barnes said. "They may not realize you will be alone and would be glad to share their holidays with you."

She said special holiday programs such as adopt-a-family and nursing home visitations are good when done properly. However, if done selfishly, they could do more harm than good to the recipient.

"Giving to the poor or less fortunate needs to be done with sensitivity to the recipients," Barnes said. "Think about how they would most enjoy receiving, not how you would most enjoy giving."

"At a nursing home, listening is the most important gift you can give. It's more important than a piece of cake and a glass of punch," she said.

But, doing things on a one-time basis is not very beneficial in the long run.

There is one basic rule everyone can observe to prevent the holiday blues caused by overspending. Make a budget and stick to it.

"Overspending for Christmas is one of the most destructive things you can do," Barnes said.

Barnes said traditions are an important aspect of Christmas regardless of an individual's situation. "Tradition gives our lives the added sparkle." "It's the spice of life."

Sales bloom for crop

Mississippi horticulturists could grow and sell poinsettias year-round, but the public doesn't buy that.

Consumers associate poinsettias with Christmas, so producers spend five months growing a 'crop' that pays off handsomely at year's end. And as more growers enter the poinsettia market, more consumers will be buying more Mississippi-grown poinsettias for the Yuletide season.

"I couldn't give a poinsettia away after Jan. 1," said George Weathersby, a horticulturist in Oktibbeha County. "The tradition is too strong."

Tradition also has another foothold. Most consumers want red poinsettias, and 90 percent of the poinsettias grown in Mississippi are red. The whites, the pinks and the pink/white combinations—the other 10 percent of the poinsettia population have—have found their niche.

Poinsettia growers won't experience the traditional Christmas rush. Most of their plants have already been booked and sold to businesses, schools, churches and individuals.

"We'll have every poinsettia plant sold by Dec. 20," said Jim Heard, a landscape contractor in Bay Springs. "We started reserving plants way back in October."

Poinsettias are a delicate crop, but they require no unusual effort to be grown. They do require tender, loving care from owners, just like any other living thing.

Water, sunlight and temperature are important in the production and care of poinsettias. The plants prefer daylight to artificial light, and they enjoy somewhat cooler temperatures (around 60 degrees) at night.

"If the plants are given proper care, they will stay prettier for a longer period of time during holidays."

Growers have incentive to properly care for their poinsettias. One mistake in the greenhouse could wipe out a crop worth $25,000 or more to a producer.

But the rewards in growing poinsettias aren't just financial. Producing quality poinsettias is quite a charge itself. "It's the biggest kick to watch those things turn color," Heard said. "You have to have the right growing conditions in your greenhouse for the plants to change color, but it's still one of nature's wonders."

Poinsettias begin the growing season with green leaves. As the plants mature, some of those leaves—the bracts—turn red or pastel. The bracts are what consumers commonly mistake for flower petals.

Woman remains hospitalized after Main Street accident

BY D.C. HARVILL

A Clermont Harbor woman remained in fair condition at Hancock Medical Center late Wednesday after being involved in an automobile accident in the 100 block of Main Street in Bay St. Louis Monday afternoon.

Bridget Cuevas, 23, driving a white Honda sports car eastbound on Main collided with a pickup truck driving by Bay attorney Cornelius Ladner apparently as he entered the roadway from the parking lot next to his office, according to Bay Police Sergeant Chuck James.

The car's windshield was cracked and the steering wheel broken forward by the impact.

Cuevas, an employee of Merchants Bank in Bay St. Louis, suffered a crushed sternum, a bruised heart, a fractured right ankle, abrasions to her face and various sprains and lacerations, according to her mother, who said her daughter wouldn't be doing much for about six weeks.

At the scene, Ladner, 69, appeared shaken but unharmed.

The accident is being investigated, according to James.

St. John home destroyed by Sunday midnight fire

BY D.C. HARVILL

A midnight fire Sunday night destroyed an older frame house on St. John Street in Bay St. Louis.

The house at 322 St. John was unoccupied while the owner, Lilly Harmon, was having it renovated so it could be rented, according to Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana.

The fire was reported at 11:45 p.m. by someone who living a street away after they heard crackling noises and what sounded like explosions, Lizana said.

"Flames were already coming out from the roof when we got here, they were shooting way up in the air," he said at the house Monday morning.

Lizana said a number of aerosol cans were found in the house and may account for the explosions heard by the neighbor.

Based on square nails found in the home's timbers and clay mortar used in its brick piers, the chief approximated the home's age at 100 years.

Firefighters had to hose down a neighboring home that was approximately 35 feet away to protect it from catching fire, he said.

County Fire Marshal Jay Marsh and Gail Fring, a volunteer fire investigator with the Bay Fire Department, are assisting with a routine investigation.

"We are now looking more thoroughly into the cause, trying to determine which utilities were connected and which weren't," Lizana said Tuesday afternoon.

Tillman said the two-day assembly will emphasize the theme "Rendering Sacred Service With Godly Fear" from Hebrews 12:28. The program will start at 9:55 a.m. each day.

September. The shuttle program had been grounded since the tragic Challenger explosion on January 28, 1986.

The crowd in the center's auditorium gave Hlass a standing ovation when Admiral Richard Truly, NASA's associate administrator for space flight, presented him with NASA's Distinguished Service Medal. "That's the first time I've seen anyone given a standing ovation at one of these things," Mack Herring, public information for the center, said.

Members of four specialty teams involved in the shuttle engine testing program at Stennis were also given awards.

"Under his leadership many alterations were made to insure the shuttle's safe return to flight," Truly said of Hlass.

"After the Challenger disaster," Truly said, "NASA had to reestablish its credibility and, over the past two to three years, I think we can hold up our heads and say we have done that."

Hlass, a resident of Long Beach, recently was promoted to technical assistant to NASA Director James Fletcher and Deputy Director Dale Myers in Washington D.C. and will vacate his post at Stennis in January.

Truly said, under Hlass' leadership the engine testing program had broken all previous records. Hlass has been director of Stennis Space Center since 1976.

HIGHEST HONORS—Jerry Hlass, director of Stennis Space Center, is presented with NASA's Distinguished Service Medal Tuesday at Stennis. The medal is the highest honor awarded by NASA. Five turn in petitions for Bay council races

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Jan. 17 special election for two Bay St. Louis City Council seats has so far attracted a total of five candidates.

Charles Scianna is running in Ward One, the seat vacated recently when Lisa Coward resigned after being elected Beat Three supervisor, City Clerk Edward Favre said.

In the other race, which is for councilman-at-large, the four potential candidates who have turned in their qualifying petitions are Peggy Dutton, Sherlyn Breland, James Rutherford and Conrad Mauffray. That post was vacated by Wilmer Seymour, now supervisor for Beat Four.

Favre said qualifying petitions can be picked up at his office. Because the Jan. 17 races fall under special election rules, 50 signatures are required for qualification. The qualifying deadline is 5 p.m. Jan. 6.

The clerk said there had not been a special election for a Bay council post since 1983, when Ward One Councilman Gene Taylor was elected to the Mississippi Senate and voters chose Gary Griffin to succeed him.

Favre said the city election commission will be assisted by the Hancock County Circuit Clerk's Office in conducting the special election, with machines to be provided by the county election commission.

Although approval from the U.S. Department of Justice's

Voting Rights Division is not expected in time for Jan. 14, Favre said two polling places could be moved if the Justice Department grants its permission in time.

If the change occurs, the Ward One voters who now vote at the Garden Center on Leonhard Avenue will move to the Bay Senior High School gymnasium, and the Ward Two voters will move from the Bay Junior High Auditorium to the city-county library on US-90.

He said it is considered likely that the changes will be approved in time for the regular election next year, but not for the special election.

A run-off in the special election, if one is needed, will be conducted on Jan. 24, Favre added.

Taxes.....

"These are all small taxpayers," Murtagh added, explaining that utilities and commercial property owners wait as long as possible before paying in order to be able to draw as much interest as possible.

The tax collector and his staff also intend to get started early on homestead exemptions. Those are also printed by the office's computerized equipment and have been ready since October, but can not be mailed until Jan. 1 under state-mandated procedures.

Murtagh said they will be mailed the first working day in January and anyone who is eligible but has not received a homestead exemption notice by the end of the first week of 1989 should contact his office.

In addition, he said the office will continue to be open a half-day on Saturdays, beginning again after the New Year's holiday, for the convenience of people who need information or wish to pay their taxes in person.

Hit and run

A Pass Christian man was arrested by Bay St. Louis Police Wednesday in connection with a hit and run on Old Spanish Trail.

Phillip L. Spencer, charged with hit and run and failure to render aid, allegedly hit Stella Hardy, 44, at Old Spanish Trail and Union Street. He was being held in Hancock County Jail awaiting an initial appearance Wednesday night.

Hardy suffered a broken pelvis and wrist and is in fair condition, according to Detective Tom Burleson.

Each charge carries a $5,000 bond, Burleson said.

SSC defeats Bay High 77-63

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws used their fastbreak offense and solid man-to-man pressure in turning back the visiting Bay High Tigers 77-63 Tuesday evening before a large crowd at the Rock-A-Chaw gym.

Shannon Garrett hit 23 points for the Rock-A-Chaws, followed by guard Greg Schuff with 15. Forwards Chris Perrone and Chad Matthews each had 12 points, with Matthews getting 10 rebounds. Craig Sweeney came off the bench to add seven points to the winning cause.

Micah Necaise led all scorers with 27 points, while Cedric

Walker had 13 and Mike Scharp added 10 points.

The Tigers got into foul trouble early, and made several runs to close the gap but could never quite catch the Rock-A-Chaws in the second half.

St. Stanislaus held a slight 13-11 lead at the end of the first quarter and increased their lead to 33-34 at halftime. In the decisive third quarter, the Rocks outscored the Tigers 24-17 to take command of the game.

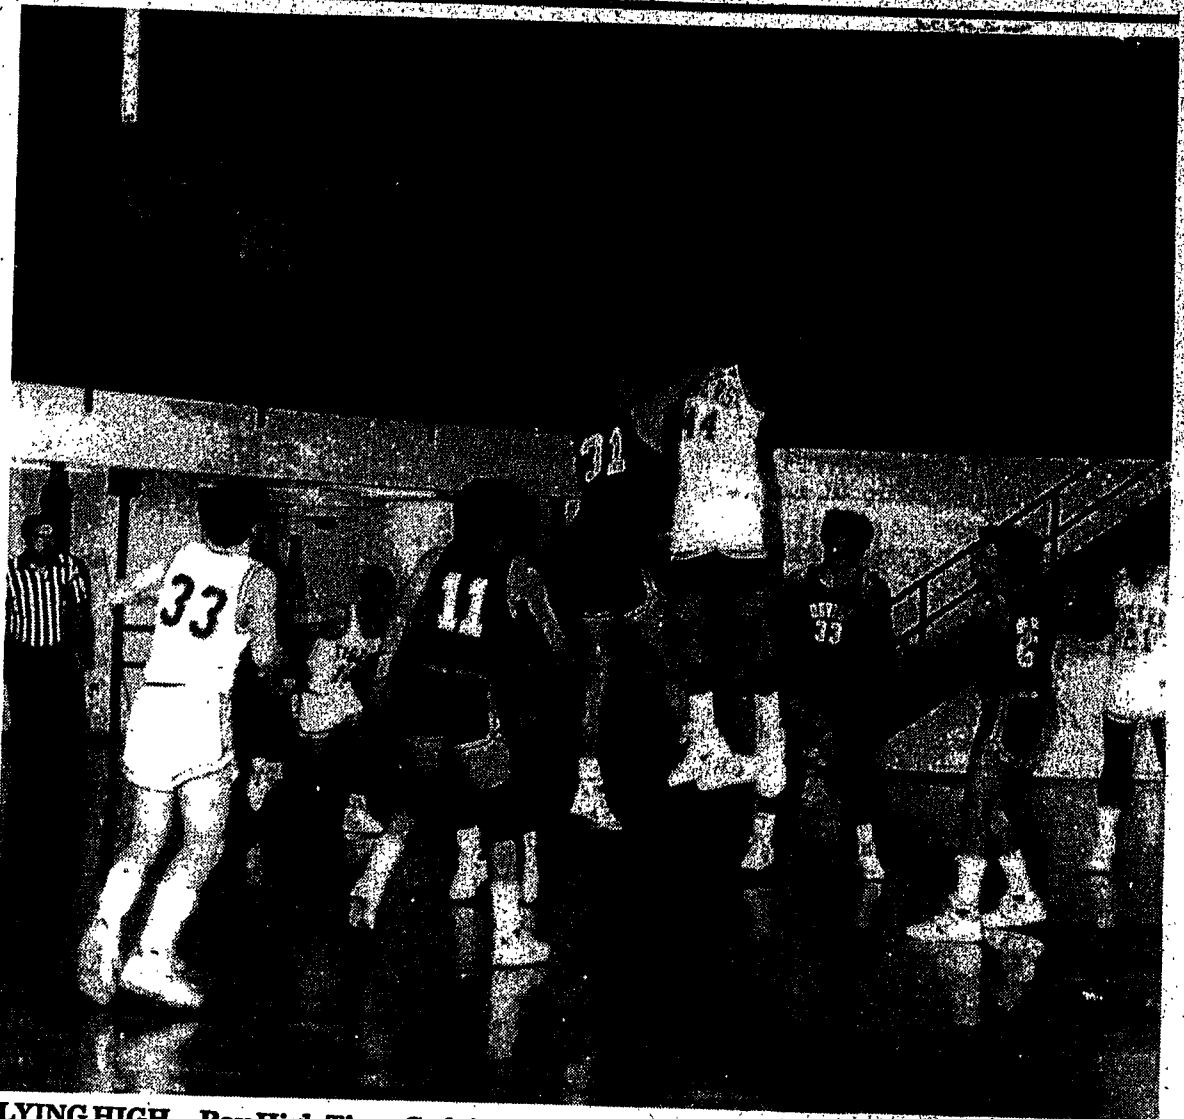

"We played a great team game. We hit the offensive boards hard and had several second shot opportunities," said SSC head coach Chuck Genin.

"Shannon Garrett had his usual consistent game, and Greg Schuff and Chad Matthews played super games. Greg had eight assists and several steals," the coach added.

In the junior varsity contest, Bay High emerged victorious 54-45. The Rocks led by 13 at one point, but could not hold the lead. Galen Smith had 14 points for the Rock-A-Chaws.

SSC resumes action after the Christmas break with an important district game against St. Martin at St. Martin on Jan. 6.

Lady Tigers win, 48-37

Tigers host Stone County

By Kanta Haynes
BHS Correspondent

The Tigers and Lady Tigers played Stone County at home Friday, Dec. 9 with the Lady Tigers coming out victorious and the Tigers playing a strong defensive game.

The Tigers out-rebounded the Tomcats, 33-31, with Cedric Walker leading the way with nine caroms.

Freddie Necaise sank 11 points and grabbed eight rebounds for the Tigers. Mike Kennedy and Will Seymour both added nine points.

Other Tiger netters were Mike Scharp, eight points; Micah Necaise, five; Cedric Walker, four; and David Weems added a three-point shot.

Leading the way for Stone were Shea Martin with 17 points and Dantae Galloway and Marcus Hinton with 12 each.

Head Coach Michael Ladner stated, "We didn't play well tonight. The entire Tiger team didn't perform as they are capable."

"But on a positive note, it's a good learning experience, and we will be better because of it," added the coach.

In an important district victory, the Lady Tigers squeaked by the Lady Tomcats of Stone County with a score of 48-37. Two Bay High netters reached double figures to clinch the win for the team.

Stacy Sheppard led the way for Bay High scoring 18 points for the win column. Kinta Ladner contributed 10 points and five steals.

Also helping the Lady Tigers was Patrice Avery with eight points and seven rebounds. Tunisia McKay added six points and 15 caroms. Yolanda Jackson clinched four points and 14 rebounds while Dedra McGowan netted two points.

"This is an important district victory for us," stated Coach Ladner. "I don't think the girls played to their potential, but we will look forward to success in the season."

Leading the way for Stone County was Tomcat Tondia Evans with 19 points and 13 caroms.

The Lady Tigers fell behind in the first quarter with a 10-8 deficit to Stone, but came back at halftime to take a one-point lead. With a halftime score of 24-23, the Lady Tigers clinched the win in the third and fourth quarters by outscoring the Lady Tomcats 24-14 for a 48-37 victory.

The Bay High hoopsters face Gulfport High Dec. 19 in a charity game and return to the Bay for a rival match against SSC Dec. 20 at Rock-A-Chaw gymnasium.

The Tigers are now 2-2 in district play while the Lady Tigers are 3-1.

SSC basketball team loses to d'Iberville

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw varsity basketball team dropped two games to d'Iberville last Friday. The varsity was defeated 70-55, while the junior varsity lost 49-32.

In the varsity contest, Shannon Garrett led the Rocks with 26 points, but the Rock-A-Chaws trailed the Warriors throughout the contest. d'Iberville jumped out to a 25-17 first quarter lead, and held a 40-32 advantage.

St. Stanislaus had an opportunity to get back in the game early in the third quarter, but d'Iberville scored eight unanswered points to blow the game wide open. Leading scorers for d'Iberville were Danny Jones with 26 points and P.J. Davis with 18 points.

The Rock-A-Chaws are now 12-3 overall, and play Bay High Tuesday at the Rock-A-Chaw gym.

SSC head coach Chuck Genin was not pleased with the team's performance. "We did not play well at all as a team. Our overall game was not there—defense, our fastbreak offense were all lacking."

After enjoying a 29-1 record in his two seasons as junior varsity coach, Coach Jerry Spell has had rough going with this year's squad. At d'Iberville, the junior varsity Rock-A-Chaws fell 49-32 to the Warriors, bringing their record to 1-5 for the season.

"We have a problem with turnovers. We need a point guard who can dribble and run the offense. Our team needs to play three games a week and practice their fundamentals two days," said Coach Spell.

"However, the boys work hard and never give up in a game. I am always satisfied with their determination and hustle."

Tipoff for the junior varsity contest at SSC will be 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

PRC hoop coach hopes New Year brings success

Pearl River Community College head basketball coach Peter Georgian is hoping the new year brings him a little better production from his guards.

The Wildcats go into the holiday break with a 5-11 record overall, and a 1-2 South Division mark. If the squad is to have any more success during the remaining 12 games, Georgian said his guards are going to have to cut down on their mistakes.

"Our post people are doing a real good job right now, but our guards are a question mark for us," he said. "Our guards have not come through for us the way I wanted them to."

He said inexperience is one of the biggest obstacles the team is dealing with, having as many as five freshmen on the court.

But he added, "To me that is no excuse at this stage of the game."

He said, including scrimmages, the Cats have played 25 games.

"The first half didn't go the way I wanted it to go," he said. But, he added, he does see some signs of improvement.

Earlier this year the squad was turning the ball over 25 times a game, while during the last four games they have been giving it up only 11 times per outing.

Andrew Neely is leading the team in scoring with 15.3 points per game, while Wendell Carter is scoring 13.1.

Tigers take Devils one-on-one to the hoops

By Kanta Haynes
BHS Correspondent

The Bay High Tigers and Lady Tigers hosted Coach Roland Lander's Devils and Lady Devils of Pearl River Central Dec. 13, when the Tigers went one-on-one to the hoops with the Devils.

In game play, the Tigers placed four players in double figures and played a strong defensive ballgame, clawing their way to a victory of 88-76 over the Devils.

Leading the Tigers in scoring was Micah Necaise with 21 points, six rebounds and six assists; Freddie Necaise netted 18 points, 15 caroms and five blocked shots. Another high scorer for the Tigers was junior center Cedric Walker with 17 points and pulling down 15 rebounds.

Other Tigers contributing to Bay High's efforts were David Weems with three three-point buckets and three two-point buckets. Assisting Weems and the other Tigers with the victory were Will Seymour with six points and five assists; Mike Kennedy with five points; Mike Scharp with four points, and James Mayfield shot in two points.

Leading the Devils in scoring was James Mitchell with 22 points and Mark Montgomery adding 21 along with Ken Holland claiming 18 points.

In girls' competition, the Lady Tigers played a hard-fought contest and out-rebounded the Lady Devils 44-33, clinching a victory of 62-43 over the Lady Devils.

The leading hoopsters for the Lady Tigers were Deborah Deloach with 18 points and 10 rebounds while Kinta Ladner added 16 points.

Other Lady Tigers helping claw the Devils were seniors Tunisia McKay with nine points and 14 rebounds and Deirdre McGowan with seven points and six steals, while junior Stacy Sheppard added four points and sophomore Patrice Avery jammed in three points.

Leading the Lady Devils with scoring was Andrea Betley with 13 points.

In junior varsity competition, the Lady Tigers caged the Lady Devils in a head-strong contest with a final score of 30-15.

The leading scorers for the Lady Tigers in this round of action were freshman Yolanda Jackson with eight points and sophomores Patrice Avery and Vida Laneaux with seven and five points, respectively.

SSC freshman team sparkles with 6-1 record

Coach Larry Ramsey's 9th grade basketball team at St. Stanislaus defeated Mercy Cross last Monday 66-26 in an impressive offensive display to increase their record to 6-1 for the season.

Nine different players scored points for the Rock-A-Chaws, with Brandon Smith leading the way with 13 points. Other outstanding performances were turned in by Trian Platz, Mickey Quinlan and Mike Lee.

The highlight of the season thus far has been SSC's 39-36 win over previously undefeated Picayune. In this game, the Rocks trailed by five points with two minutes left to play.

Good defensive performances by Quinlan, Smith and Lee forced key turnovers by Picayune which the Rocks used to their advantage.

"That ballgame (Picayune) was one in which we showed good defense, hustle, and determination. We played up to our potential," said Coach Ramsey.

Last week the Rock-A-Chaws defeated Hancock North Central 48-33 to avenge an earlier 12-point loss to the Hawks. Leading the way for the Rock-A-Chaws were Trian Platz with 10 points, and nine other players who scored. Coach Ramsey credits the entire team with good defense.

Bass can be caught shallow in winter, too

Contrary to what many anglers believe, not all large-mouth bass hibernate in uncatchable depths during the winter.

On some lakes, the fish actually stay shallow—or perhaps move shallow at certain times—during the coldest temperatures.

"There are several shallow water winter patterns anglers should investigate before giving up and heading to deeper depths," explains David Wharton, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff and long-time guide on Sam Rayburn Reservoir in Texas.

"Tributary creeks, vegetation, and riprap often hold fish in shallow water, if not throughout the winter, at least during part of it. Much, of course, depends on what else is available for the bass, but I strongly recommend fishermen look for these first if they want to stay in shallow water."

Winter vegetation is more common on Sun Belt lakes, says Wharton, and even though the cold weather kills the greenery on the surface, the grass continues to grow underwater. Anglers can find it by studying a depthfinder and concentrating along deeper flats, in sheltered bays and coves, and wherever the vegetation may have been present earlier in the year.

"Water with vegetation is usually slightly warmer," explains the well-known Johnson Outboards pro, "so the fish are a little more active and chase a lure better. Grass also provides shelter for baitfish, which always attract larger predators like bass."

Effective grass lures include crankbaits, jigs, and possibly even topwater plugs if the water is shallow and the greenery, such as moss, is thick and does grow to the surface. In most instances, the lures do need to be worked slower and more deliberately. Stop-and-go retrieves are among the best to use.

"Another option for shallow water winter fishing is to work tributary creeks," adds Wharton. "What you're doing when you fish a creek is simply eliminate the deep water option for bass. Some bass will live their entire lives in the same tributary and never leave, regardless of the conditions."

Wharton believes the best winter creeks are those that have good spawning areas in them, and which have abundant cover. He always chooses one on the lower end of a lake where the water will probably be slightly deeper, and one on the north shoreline of the lake because it receives the most sunlight each day.

"Start at the back of this creek and work your way out, fishing crankbaits or a jig with a pork chunk attached. Keep your boat in the middle of the creek channel and fish both edges, but remember to cast directly ahead of you into the channel itself, too," says Wharton.

"With these lures you can effectively cover a variety of depths, and once you do establish a depth pattern, you can generally go to other creeks and catch bass in them at that same depth."

Riprap, as well as large rocks and boulders, may also hold bass shallow in winter, according to the Johnson Outboards pro. The rocks absorb heat from sunlight and frequently have algae growing on them. This attracts bait, which in turn, brings in bass. On windy days, riprap also collects wind-blown algae, which also draws both bait and bass.

"You can fish riprap and rocks with a deep crankbait, casting at an angle so our lure comes down and across them. A big spinnerbait will also generate strikes. Look for little breaks in the rocks, places where logs or debris may have lodged, or corners in the riprap, and work them thoroughly."

Students take a stand against driving drunk

By Christi Trombley
BHS Correspondent
Bay High students recently pulled together to form a Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) Chapter dedicated to solving the drunk driving situations throughout the school community. SADD, under the direction of Mrs. Gloria Dean, guidance counselor, met Nov. 28 in the high school library to elect officers for the upcoming year.

Elected officers were Shane Kowalski, president; Chad Bordes, vice-president; Shelly Fayard, secretary; Katie Cuevas, treasurer; and Marti Reed, promotion manager.

"SADD is in its first year at Bay High, and I expect it to do very well," stated Marti Reed, promotion manager. Reed also said, "I feel the students have shown great participation and cooperation."

When asked how he felt about the group, Chad Bordes, SADD vice-president, remarked, "I think it is a good organization. It gives students a chance to show responsibility to families, friends and to themselves."

The Christmas holidays have increased publication of the newly-formed chapter to the students and residents of the community. SADD members will promote the slogan, "Don't Drink and Drive" and will hand out flyers, posters and offer rides to those who choose to drink over the holidays.

Students Against Driving

Drunk was established in 1981 to improve young people's knowledge and attitudes about alcohol and drugs and to help save their lives and the lives of others.

Bay High's SADD has 30 members and meets the second and last Tuesdays of each month in the Bay Senior High library.

GUARD FACTS
Q. What is the difference between the State Guard and the National Guard?
A. The National Guard is a dual-purpose, federally-funded, state-operated military organization responsible for the state's security and tranquility but capable of being mobilized in a national emergency. If the National Guard is mobilized for federal service, the State Guard has responsibility for providing for the state's needs, in cases of natural disasters, civil disturbances and other breaches of the state's security or tranquility.

Early care protects wildlife trophies

By Linda S. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Many hunters dream of the large buck they will hang on their walls with pride. Unfortunately, the best mounts are often damaged by improper handling before reaching a taxidermist—jeopardizing the final trophy.

Even the best taxidermists will have a hard time preparing an animal that has been unnecessarily scarred before arrival.

While hunters usually cannot select the location for the initial shot, extra skin wounds in a deer's shoulders, neck and head area (called a cape) should be avoided, said James Kinard, a Winston County taxidermist.

"The first thing many hunters want to do when they reach their deer is cut its throat," Kinard said. "Another shot in the chest area will work just as well if the animal is still alive. Field dressing will be sufficient for bleeding the deer."

Dr. Clyde Taylor, veterinarian for the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said there are a couple of alternatives to cutting a deer's throat for bleeding. Cutting in the armpit area behind the foreleg until the blood flows freely and/or cutting the main artery in the back leg will be adequate.

When dragging the deer back to a vehicle or camp, lift the head and shoulders and avoid limbs, logs or rocks, Kinard said. Obstacles may cause bald spots that will be hard to cover up when preserving.

Kinard said hunters need to be sure ample skin is available in the chest (brisket) area for the shoulder mounts. Cut up the line where white and brown hair meet on the forelegs. When reaching the body area, cut straight back instead of between legs, he said.

"Capes should not be left outside, especially on warmer days, for very long," Kinard said. "Spoiling in warm temperatures will cause the hair to fall off."

If the cape is not carried directly to the taxidermist, enclose the trophy in a garbage bag and put it in a freezer. Kinard recommends leaving the bag open the first couple of hours to insure quicker freezing. Later, seal the bag air tight to prevent freezer burn.

Kinard said after a hunter brings the finished trophy home, moderate care will mean a "longer life" for the deer.

He said never place the mount over a fireplace or any other source of heat, and do not hang in direct sunlight.

Furniture polish sprayed lightly on a rag and wiped with the direction of the hair will remove most dust and dirt from deer, as well as fish and other small game.

Kinard said antlers can be cleaned with a mixture of half turpentine and half boiled linseed oil to prevent bleaching.

Furniture polish or glass cleaner will clean the eyes.

"If over time the trophy begins to show signs of drying out such as cracking around the eyes, ears or mouth, take it to a taxidermist as soon as possible," Kinard said. "Most of the time repairs are possible."

SSC soccer team posts two wins over St. John

The St. Stanislaus varsity and junior varsity soccer teams soundly defeated host team St. John last Thursday with a 5-1 varsity win and a 7-0 junior varsity victory.

The Rocks, 3-2 in district play, were led by Brian Brooks with two goals, Troy Pepperman with two goals, Scott Necaise with a goal, and Trey Kidd with two goals.

"We started off well dominating the game from the start," commented coach Mark Foley. "We maintained control of the contest throughout the entire first half."

St. John tried to come back early in the second half, but the momentum changed and SSC once again took command of the game.

"I credit key defensive plays by fullbacks Travis Thomas and Ross Bonura. At goalie, Robbie Bourgois filled in well for the injured Kevin Jacobi with 14 saves," said coach Foley.

The Rock-A-Chaws resume action after the Christmas holidays when they play Long Beach at Long Beach Jan. 6.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1988-1C

Dear Santa, my Christmas wish is... Teachers provide Christmas wish list

A "wish list" is as much a part of the holiday season as Christmas cards and caroling. This year, area business, civic groups and individuals can play Santa Claus year-round by checking off the items on wish lists that public school teachers recently prepared. The lists contain requests for items ranging from guest speakers and field trips to posters and paperbacks.

All of the items identified on the teachers' lists will help to improve the quality of education in Hancock County, according to Adopt-A-School organizers. They believe that potential adopters and program supporters may be surprised at the need expressed for basic, practical items such as paper for copy machines and bulletin boards. The lists were requested by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce which is coordinated the Adopt-A-School program in conjunction with the Bay St. Louis-Waveland and Hancock County school districts.

By adopting a school or class, businesses, organizations and individuals can provide much-needed support to teachers and students.

Adopters can choose the types of assistance they want to provide, including volunteer time, professional expertise and the donation of items and materials.

In sampling of the wish lists, books of all kinds were requested, from textbooks and novels to sets of encyclopedias. A large number of teachers listed dictionaries for their classes and libraries. Magazine and newspaper subscriptions were also requested, as were globes and maps of all kinds and sizes.

All types of audiovisual equipment and materials are apparently much needed by the teachers. Frequently mentioned items were projectors, tape recorders, records, film strips and cameras.

Classroom space seems to be on the minds of teachers who asked for shelves, bookcases, file cabinets and coat racks. A considerable number also requested desks, chairs and carpeting.

Some of the smaller requested items included clocks, first aid kits, educational games and puzzles, aquariums, American flags, paper pencils and scissors.

Arts and crafts supplies of every kind also seem to be in much demand.

Television sets and video cassette recorders were requested as frequently as computer hardware and software, indicating a need to modernize and enhance teaching capabilities.

The teachers listed a variety of needed classroom supplies and equipment, including paper cutters, hole punchers, laminating machines, typewriters, public address systems, tables, bulletin boards and copy machines.

A good number of teachers expressed an interest in receiving assistance from volunteer tutors, guest lecturers, role models, teacher assistants and other resources people to provide support.

Many others asked for incentives and rewards for students who display academic excellence.

There were also specialized equipment requests for science classes, physical education, sports and cheerleading.

"The bottom line of these teacher wish lists is that our schools need the support of the community and that the Adopt-A-School program provides many opportunities for adopters to improve our educational system," said Libby Roland, executive director of the chamber of commerce.

For more information about adopting a school or class, the public may contact the chamber at 467-9048.

TOY TRAINS, which have been a popular and traditional gift at Christmas for many years, fascinate four-year-old Grady Wily, a student in Coast Episcopal Elementary School's pre-kindergarten class, as he receives a boost from his teacher, Yvonne Williams. The youngster was one of two groups which recently toured the Toy Train Shop on Main Street, where proprietor Rick Hargrove demonstrated several trains and let the children have a try at operating one of the less complex models. Hargrove said inviting the children to tour the shop has become an annual Christmas tradition for him. (Echo staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Side Street Crossings

By Dena Bisnette

I've been thinking about Christmas at The Sea Coast Echo.

It has been a tradition here in past years to draw names. Each employee who wants to participate takes a name, then brings a present for the person they've drawn to the company Christmas party (which is also known as one of our many annual excuses to PIG OUT).

That system usually works out well. It kind of depends on whose name you've drawn.

Only once have I had a problem choosing a gift, because I didn't know what the person would like and because, when I asked some of the other people around the office, I was told two radically different things. "That's easy, she likes everything" and "That's easy, it doesn't matter what you get because she doesn't like anything." Really helpful, folks, and I never did find out if she liked the gift or not.

This year, I'm kind of making a list of some of the things I'd like to give to people here and I'm sure there's no question they will love these gift ideas.

—To my publisher, Ellis Cuevas, I would love to give a committee to help him with all of his committee work. I have never seen anyone else belong to so many committees at one time.

—To Vera LaNasa, our typesetter, I would like to give two gifts—a 48-hour day to replace her 24-hour day, which is not long enough for her, and an octopus trained to help her with her work. Anybody know where I can find an octopus who can type?

—To Christine Tunis, who works at the front counter, I would give an identical twin because two phone lines are always ringing when Chris is working alone and everybody stays too busy to help her by answering one.

—To Donna Burgess, who also works up front, I would give a pair of roller skates because she's always scooting around looking for somebody who's wanted on the telephone.

—To Tony "The Pun" Monti, who spends who knows how many hours in a day thinking up the most creative puns I ever heard, I would like to give a television sitcom of his very own.

—To our general manager, Gail Rideout, I have decided to give a little red wagon she can use when she restocks the coke machine every other day. It must be hard work to look graceful carrying those heavy crates of bottles while wearing high-heeled shoes.

—To Paula Fairconnetue, who does advertising layouts and seemed to be in demand among the politicians during the recent election, I would give a political office, any political office, so she can see what life is like on the other side of the fence.

—To Mike Seatewater, our advertising manager, I would like to give just one week with working hours that don't include anything except days—no evenings or nights—because his wife misses him. I saw her recently and she told me that.

—To my associate D.C. Harvill, my gift would definitely be a set of headphones so he can listen to his blues music while he's writing, without startling anybody. The last time he listened to it for inspiration, one of the customers wanted to know who was ailing and had we called the ambulance yet.

—To Janet McQueen, my editor, who lives in Picayune, I think the best gift would be a non-stop commuter flight so she can get home sooner to see her children.

—To Lee Leith and Charlotte Logan, our advertising representatives, I want to give pocket pagers. That way, they wouldn't have to meet themselves coming and going.

—To Chuck Jones, who runs the press, the Echo should give a new kind of ink that doesn't come off on your clothing, vehicle or family.

—To Elena LaNasa, who handles the Macintosh computer better than anybody, but then has to do everything else, I would like to give her a copy machine that doesn't stop

D.C. Harvill's desk, placed somewhere in the office where he can't give her such a hard time.

—To Jeffrey Favre, our circulation manager, an appropriate gift would be an electronic bird dog that finds lost objects, including car keys, eyeglasses, pens and the part of his memory that keeps track of where he leaves his things.

—And last but not least, to the crew in the back, which consists of Paula Page, Marcelle Medley and Armand Biwe, I would give a small restaurant in the section of the building where they work, since the only time I ever get to see them is on their breaks and the only thing I ever see them eat is junk food. The top item on the menu, of course, is pizza. Bon appetite, gang!

I almost forgot a staff member—me. I know it isn't traditional to give yourself a Christmas gift, but I know what I would really like to have. I would like to have just one day every year when everything happens according to schedule so I can plan to go home when I want, and I can take my time to take a little break. Merry Christmas, everyone!

Reflections

Jesus invites all losers

By Father Jerome LeDoux
President Ronald Reagan has 611 guests in his White House quarters on October 24, 1988. It was a refreshing change in that most of the 611 athletes were also-rans, losers by any athletic terminology. Some of them have even been last-place finishers.

"The United States won 94 medals in the recent olympics," the President told them. "But you are all winners. You are 611 reasons why the United States can be proud of her athletes."

Predictably, the President reverted to his old form when he honored the world-champion Los Angeles Dodgers in the White House two days later. The mighty, acclaimed Oakland Athletics were not invited because they were also-rans, losers in the World Series.

Typically, it has been the President calling and/or hosting the winning team of the NBA championship playoff series, the NFL Super Bowl victors, the World Series conquerors, or some other winner(s) in the world of sports or other human endeavor.

Jesus never knocked winners. In fact, he wants all people to be winners eventually in his kingdom. Yet, he knew well that those who were already winners of sorts would somehow manage without his discriminating intervention in their lives.

What Jesus did do was discriminate, choose to intervene in the lives of losers. Much more than merely acknowledge them or throw them second-best of good-loser compliments, he sought them out and made their lives and their agenda an intimate part of his own.

That was most obvious from the very beginning of his mission here on Planet Earth. Jesus joined the ranks of the homeless, at least temporarily, when his parents could not find a suitable place for him to make his entry into the world:

"While they were there (in Bethlehem)...she gave birth to her first-born son, wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the place where travelers lodged" (Luke 2: 6-7).

Born a loser according to worldly perceptions, attitudes and standards, Jesus did not apologize for the less-than-humble conditions of his birth. On the contrary, he emphasized those conditions and identified with them as part of his mission here.

Thirty years later, he was to reaffirm the unbelievably poor circumstances of his birth by describing the austerities of his public life as an itinerant preacher:

"The foxes have dens, the birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay his head" (Matthew 8: 20).

"Nobody loves a loser," is the conventional wisdom in sports, politics, entertainment, business and, unfortunately, marriage.

Yet, Jesus consistently showed a predilection, a discriminating preference for the homeless, the poor, the diseased, the halt, the blind, the deaf, the oppressed, the luckless and for all who would readily be considered losers in the world's judgment.

The prophecy of Isaiah became the clarion call of Jesus when he returned to his native Nazareth at the outset of his ministry:

"The spirit of the Lord is upon me; therefore he has anointed me. He has sent me to bring glad tidings to the poor, to proclaim liberty to captives, recovery of sight to the blind and release to prisoners" (Luke 4: 18).

Assuring us that it is the sick who need a doctor (Matthew 9: 12), Jesus showed us the way by pursuing all the moral and material losers around him. He insists that we do exactly as he did, for it is the will of God that all be saved and brought into the kingdom.

IN BRIEF

UNO CLOSED FOR HOLIDAYS

The University of New Orleans will be closed Friday, December 23, through Monday, January 2, for the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

Registration for the 1989 spring semester will be conducted Wednesday through Friday, January 18-20, with classes beginning Monday, January 23. New students must apply and be admitted to the university before they may register. For information, call the UNO Office of Admissions, (504) 286-6595.

Before addiction pulls you under, call the Chemical Dependency Treatment Center.

Drinkers, drug users, and their families. All of them struggle against chemical dependency. All meet its frustration head to head.

For each of them, chemical dependency is a fatal disease. And it must be treated like one.

That's why we've opened the Chemical Dependency Treatment Center at Slidell Memorial Hospital.

In this comprehensively designed recovery and rehabilitation center, experienced and certified physicians, counselors, and nurses provide well-rounded treatment, including education and counseling, to individuals and families. Formal treatment is followed by a support program that lasts at least one year.

the first step is cleansing

Treatment begins with our Detoxification Education Assessment & Referral (DEAR). Here, patients enter a process of cleansing, education, and assessment, through which our physicians and treatment team determine the best form of help: Inpatient Rehabilitation, Outpatient Treatment, or another appropriate strategy.

the focus is a chemical-free life

Inpatient Rehabilitation is a 24- to 30-day, highly focused intensive treatment program in which patients learn the steps to conducting chemical-free lives. Board Certified Substance Abuse Counselors and Registered Nurses work directly with patients in individual counseling, group therapy, discharge planning, treatment planning, and education.

relapse prevention follows initial treatment

An important part of treatment is Aftercare. Because chemical dependents sometimes relapse, group and individual education, therapy, and support sessions are conducted weekly for 12 months by experienced Substance Abuse Counselors.

Aftercare involves patients' families, who participate in a recovery program of their own.

strengthening the support system

Family Treatment is focused, in the first week, on educational groups that provide families a forum for asking questions and hearing from others with similar experiences. A specialized treatment program designed especially for them follows. Families receive information about addiction, and the support they need during the patient's recovery.

In the third week, families begin a week of intensive treatment which involves the patient. During this phase, families sort out important issues, assess their situation, and face the effects of this serious problem.

outpatient help for patients and families

Patients directed by our physicians and treatment team to Outpatient Treatment undergo education and therapy sessions on weekday evenings for 7 weeks. Board Certified Substance Abuse Counselors lead these meetings, which may involve the patient's family. Outpatients attend Aftercare for one year.

depend on us, not on drugs and alcohol

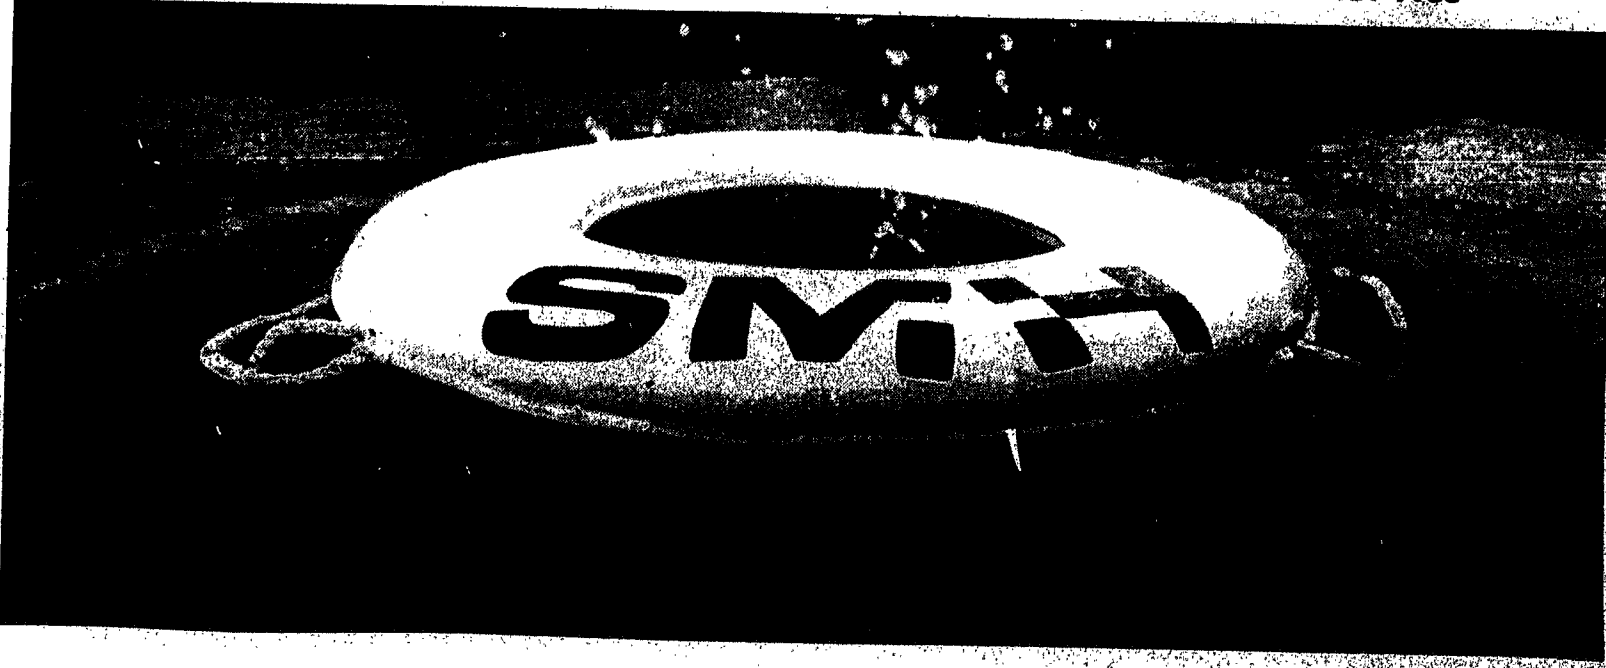

The Chemical Dependency Treatment Center is a comprehensive recovery and rehabilitation center that provides a full range of treatment services for the chemically-dependent and their families.

The pull of chemical dependency is relentless. But now there's a team you can depend on to help you stay afloat. Ours.
